Since this is the portable version of the program, it is important to mention that it doesn't leave any traces in the Windows Registry. You can copy it on any USB flash drive or other devices, and take it with you whenever you need to hide windows on the breeze, without having to go through installation steps. Portable UltraHide sports a clean and simplistic layout that allows you to carry out most operations with minimum effort. The program gives you the possibility to encrypt the information by setting up passwords for unlocking the concealed windows, and press a hotkey in the active panel for automatically hiding the current utility. Since it doesn't comprise many configuration settings, even rookies can master the process with just a few clicks. On the downside, you are not allowed to assign a user-defined key, so you are stuck with preset option. During our testing we have noticed that Portable UltraHide carries out a task quickly. As it would be expected from such a small utility, it remains light on system resources, so the overall performance of the computer is not affected. All things considered, Portable UltraHide proves to be a reliable application that helps you hide windows on the go. If you are looking for advanced features, you can check out the professional version of the program that offers support for custom hotkeys for hiding or revealing a window or all windows, and a fake work simulation mode. the sole basis of his claim, were of questionable viability before Knievel attached them.
